GENERAL INFORMATION

Shears designed to cut quickly, in a single operation with precision, samples of Paper, Foils, Films ..., of a width determined by the model and 260 mm long.

Paper cutters are used extensively for the many applications where samples need to be accurately cut to size but without the need for the extreme precision that some specific test procedures require. Most cutters now used in the laboratory are ergonomically designed for speedy and safe operation with preset gauge stops to give the desired dimensions to the cut specimens.

- Easy to use
- Safety of use
- Robust design
- With security screen

With a fixed blade and two movable ones made of special tempered and ground steel. Before making the cut, a lever is pressed that brings the fixed blade closer to the guide stop, in order to hold and smooth the sample, and thus obtain samples with greater accuracy in their dimensions.

Equipped with a safety protector, which avoids introducing the operator's hands between the blades and the cutting base, during the sample cutting process.
